

Notice: Western Competition Cancellation

We have made the difficult decision to cancel the Western Competition scheduled for April 11th, 2026.

Over the past several years, we have remained dedicated to supporting the Vancouver market and consistently hosted our Western event, despite incurring notable financial losses. Our commitment was driven by a consistent, slow growth in registrations, which gave us hope that the event would eventually become sustainable. Regrettably, the sharp decline in registrations this year has made it infeasible to operate the 2026 event. We understand that this outcome may be disappointing, but we hope our transparency helps you appreciate the difficult circumstances leading to this decision.

The limited number of registered competitors will be contacted directly with options to refund or transfer their registration. We apologize to those who have made special arrangements to attend.

The CPAC is committed to taking active steps in learning more about the needs of our Western competitors and studios and will be exploring alternatives, such as changing the host city, and will again seek the input from the Western Pole and Aerial communities to determine the best steps forward.
